Rev. Mr. Hamlin of Amherst, Mass., delivered a very interesting and impressive sermon at the Cong'l church last Sunday morning. At the Sunday school session Carroll G. Page gave an interesting account of the recent County Sunday school convention at Wolcott.

A very fine reception and entertainment was that given at the Cong'l church last Thursday evening in honor of the faculty and students of the L. C. A. About a hundred were present and the evening delightfully passed in social intercourse and games, and an original "playlet." The latter was heartily enjoyed as was also the delightful strains by the L. C. A. band. Punch and wafers were served.

The Hardwick Gazette says of the recent visit of the Rebekah lodge to that place. "The feature number was given by the Hyde Park lodge in the exemplification of the beautiful degree work. The several assembly and grand lodge officers present, claimed to have seldom seen the work rendered more impressively. The large number from Sunbeam Lodge, at Barton, who came especially to see the degree work, felt amply repaid for their efforts."

Clark's new "corner store" was opened for business last Saturday and was extensively patronized. Everybody expressed surprise as well as gratification at the remarkable change made in the building and Mr. and Mrs. Clark were the recipients of many congratulations upon the improvements made. They have a nice stock of goods and intend to keep what the people want. Surely they deserve patronage for the improvements they have made on that corner.

Vermont's Fall Glories

[Rutland News]

One of the most delightful seasons of the whole year for automobile touring in Vermont is at hand. The foliage is beginning to show the autumnal tints here and there, and a little later the hillside will look as if they were covered with a mammoth oriental rug. No stage setting was ever more brilliant than the scenery through the Green Mountains from September to November. The roads are at their best. While there are spots here and there that are poor, for the most part the highways are conceded to be superior for motoring to those found anywhere in the country. More people ought to motor through Vermont at this fall season than they do, and the number would be largely increased if people were properly informed as to the superlative attractions.

In the year 1886 I purchased a Glenwood Range and after using it for fifteen years in South Africa and transporting it 380 miles from Natal to the Transvaal on an ox team, and using it under varying circumstances with various kinds of fuel, I am pleased to be able to state that your stove gave entire satisfaction both as regards utility and economy. ## Concerning Senator Page

Having decided to take an extended period of rest following his strenuous campaign for renomination, the Senator has selected the Marble City as his first stop upon the advice of his physician, Dr. W. W. Townsend of this city.

The doctor strongly recommended that the Senator would find no better place to obtain absolute relaxation than at the local hospital, where he will remain until Monday. Dr. Townsend finds that his patient has no organic trouble and has told him that he will better enjoy his outing of a month or six weeks at Atlantic City, N. J., because of a week-end in the model institution overlooking the city, where he may have the observation of a physician.

PAGE QUITE HAPPY

Senator Page last evening smiled in anticipation of the announcement that after making such a successful fight for renomination his friends would learn this morning that he was taking a "rest cure" in a hospital. When The Herald representative called at the hospital the Senator was being initiated into the game of two-handed whist by a white-capped nurse. He said that his only excuse for being in a hospital was that listening to the advice of his physician who lauded the Rutland institution to a point where he made up his mind he would take a "lay-off," as he expressed it.

When Senator Page left Hyde Park last Wednesday to attend a meeting of Republican party managers in Burlington, he intimated to his friends at home that he would consult a physician to learn whether the strain of the campaign had made any inroads on his health. Accordingly he stopped at Rutland and consulted Dr. Townsend.

WILL GO TO ATLANTIC CITY

When Senator Page leaves Rutland next week he will go directly to Atlantic City, where he plans to remain until thoroughly rested and ready to take up the duties of his office at the opening of Congress in December.

In a room on the second floor of the hospital, the Senator will take two or three more days of absolute rest and while he is always pleased to meet his friends, he said last evening that he would be obliged to flee the city if his numerous friends in this section should descend upon him—providing they could get by the nurse. Rest is what he is seeking and he trusts he may get it in fullest measure.

THANKS HIS SUPPORTERS

preciation of the work of his loyal supporters, not only in this city and county, but throughout the State. He said there never had been any doubt in his mind as to the result, except as to the size of his vote, and the figures were several thousand higher than he anticipated.

He laughingly referred to the statement he made early in the campaign that "there was one more fight left in him", and intimated that he felt he had made good the assertion.

The Senator talked of by-gone campaigns and became reminiscent concerning his long public career, likening the recent contest with others in which he has participated. He said that for a man who has campaigned for three or four months, he felt he was in prime physical condition, not having lost an ounce in weight. He weighs 178 pounds and eats three meals each day. As this is his regular weight and eating schedule, Senator Page says his friends need not be alarmed to know that he is in a hospital.

WILSON'S POLICIES BLOWN UP

Charles Evans Hughes did have explosives with him when his motorcar was searched by a Canadian soldier but they were under the candidate's hat. Mr. Hughes will set them off on his western tour, and some of Mr. Wilson's policies will be blown up—New York Sun

THERE SHOULD BE NO ACTION UNDER PRESSURE, UNDER DICTATION.

"We have one priceless treasure in this country, and that is the reign of good judgment after public discussion. In the long history of the people, victory after victory has been won over tyranny and force. We have a free press, we have a free form of public discussion, to the end that there may be a general understanding of our activities and a general appreciation of what is necessary to the improvement of our conditions. We may disagree about this measure or that, but we have confidence in the public judgment in the long run. Hence there is one thing which we must always maintain, and that is that there shall be no action on the part of our elected representatives, taken under pressure, under dictation. We must know what the facts are and what justice requires."—Mr. Hughes in His Speech at Portland, Maine.

NO ONE WAS AFRAID OF HAITI.

Haiti did not behave as badly to us as Mexico behaved; but Mr. Wilson intervened, fought the Haitians, shedding their blood and the blood of our troops, took possession and now has our armed forces in control of Haiti and directing its government. His course of action in Haiti can be defended only if his course of action in Mexico is unqualifiedly condemned; for such action was far more needed in Mexico than in Haiti. But there was a difference in the two cases; and to Mr. Wilson it was a vital difference. Haiti was weaker than Mexico. No one was afraid of Haiti. From the Speech of Colonel Roosevelt Delivered at Lewiston, Maine, in Behalf of Charles E. Hughes.

The President says that he is above all things else "an American citizen." Fortunately for him, nothing has taken him to Europe or Mexico during the past few years.

ELECTING A PRESIDENT 11

LINCOLN.

Nation
Rent
by Slavery
Issue
In 1860.

THE election of 1860 found the country on the verge of civil war. The abolitionists were members of the Republican party, and in the convention Lincoln defeated William H. Seward of New York. Lincoln was not an abolitionist in the strict sense of the word. He later wanted the government to buy all the slaves. The "Douglas Democrats" nominated Stephen A. Douglas of Illinois, who likewise was in favor of prohibiting the further extension of slavery. J. C. Breckinridge of Kentucky was the candidate of the other branch of the Democratic party, while John Bell of Tennessee was the candidate on the Union ticket. Lincoln defeated George B. McClellan of New Jersey in 1864. (Watch for the election of Grant in 1868 in our next issue.)

Families living in the rural districts where mail service has been curtailed will be interested in knowing that Postmaster General Burleson has sent Secretary McAdoo a check for $5,200,000, representing surplus postal revenues.

Mr. Gardner should not quote what Mr. Wilson said while president of Princeton. His utterances are outlawed by himself in seven days.

That man Hughes is causing the Democratic newspapers an endless amount of worry. Apparently they will never be satisfied until he turns the management of his campaign over to them.

Mr. Hughes' speeches are giving poor satisfaction to the Democratic press, which proves they are very good speeches indeed.
